

Creative Takeover Day!

Creative practitioners from Talking Turns, an arts-based learning project, are 'taking over' Shiphay Learning Academy on Tuesday 25th June 2024.

All pupils in the school, from nursery to year 6, will take part in drama, music and digital media activity – showcasing the power of arts-based learning in supporting pupils to access their learning across the curriculum and the development of their oracy skills.

Your personal invitation

The Talking Turns team wants to demonstrate and share the benefits of arts-based learning far and wide and invite you to come along and witness it in action!

You can sign up to observe sessions throughout the school day and join us for a twilight CPD session at the end of the day.

About the project

Talking Turns is a partnership project with Lead Partners Daisi (Lead Organisation), Doorstep Arts, Sound Communities, and Riviera Education Trust, and schools in Torbay and the surrounding area, funded by The Paul Hamlyn Foundation.

The project has explored 'How can arts-based learning practice support development of children's oracy?' through teachers and creative practitioners co-planning, practicing and learning together. It has also included CPD, 'Away Afternoons', and wider sharings of learning (such as this event at Shiphay). Talking Turns has explored and evaluated how drama and related arts techniques embed creative and diverse ways to support children's oracy education.
